MIXOLOGY

HARD SHAKES

The Hard Shake originated in America, before Prohibition in the 1920's. At that time booze had been a common element in milkshakes. It was only after alcohol was banned that it became a non-alcoholic treat for children! It has recently been revived by whisky bars and diners in the US, and now it's crossed the pond to Zucchini's!

Can't decide whether to have a drink or dessert?

Have the best of both worlds with one of our ever-popular Hard Shakes!

With our Italian roots all our hard shakes are named after infamous Mafia bosses.

STRAWBERRY "SCARFACE"

Vodka, strawberry syrup, strawberry ice cream and milk

Al "Scarface" Capone

One of the most famous American gangsters, Alphonse Capone, also known as "Scarface", rose to infamy as the leader of the Chicago mafia during the Prohibition era. Before being sent to Alcatraz Prison in 1931 from a tax evasion conviction, he had amassed a personal fortune estimated at $100 million and was responsible for countless murders.

BANOFFEE "LUCKY"

Banana liqueur, toffee syrup, vanilla ice cream and milk

Charles "Lucky" Luciano

Lucky Luciano was an Italian-born American mobster best known for engineering the structure of modern organized crime in the United States. Lucky by name lucky by nature he became the rare gangster to survive a mafia "one-way ride"; he was abducted, beaten, repeatedly stabbed with an ice pick, had his throat slit from ear to ear, and was left for dead on a Staten Island beach—but survived. Luciano split New York City into five crime families, heading the Luciano crime family himself. In addition he also brought in other crime figures from across the country, including Chicago's Al Capone. This new entity, known as the Commission, took organized crime to a new level and he was established as the most powerful men in organized crime.

BOURBON "BUGSY" MAPLE

Bourbon, maple syrup, vanilla ice cream and milk

Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel

Iconic mobster Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel built a criminal empire through bootlegging, gambling and ruthless assassinations before building the Flamingo Casino in Las Vegas, igniting an era of glamour, gambling and gangsters in the desert.

BAILEY'S "TEFLON DON"

Baileys, vanilla ice cream and milk

John "Teflon Don" Gotti

John Gotti was an organized crime leader who became head of the Gambino family. Born on October 27, 1940, in the South Bronx, New York, John Gotti would face run-ins with the law several times, including a four-year prison term for manslaughter, before becoming head of the Gambino crime family. Nicknamed "Teflon Don" for his ability to remain free, Gotti was eventually convicted on multiple criminal counts and sentenced to life in prison.

Spiced Rum Mocha "Little Man"

Bacardi Oakheart, shot of espresso, chocolate ice cream and milk

Carlos "Little Man" Marcello

Carlos Marcello was best known as the mob boss of New Orleans, and for the FBI's investigation into his possible involvement in JFK's assassination.

AMARETTO "THE GRIM REAPER"

Amaretto, vanilla ice cream and milk

Greg "The Grim Reaper" Scarpa

Greg Scarpa was a Mafia hitman with ties to the Profaci crime family. After a bust for hijacking, he betrayed his oath to the Mafia and became an FBI informant. The FBI gave him free reign to torture Ku Klux Klan member Lawrence Byrd until he gave up the location of bodies in the "Mississippi Burning" case, but his luck ran out when he was later charged with multiple counts of Mafia murders.

Hazelnut "The Prime Minister"

Frangelico, caramel syrup, chocolate ice cream and milk

Frank "The Prime Minister" Costello

Notorious kingpin mobster Frank "The Prime Minister" Costello headed the Genovese crime family, the most powerful crime family in New York, from the mid-1930s until 1957.
